Please carefully follow the instructions below to ensure a smooth return. Note that if a Corsair agent has given different return instructions specific to your situation, those instructions should be followed instead.

Include:

A copy of this document, showing the RMA number

All fans that came with coolers or cases being returned

All modules of memory kits being returned, even if not all are faulty

Modular DC cables that came with power supplies being returned

Keep:

AC main power cable of any returning power supply

Records of your return shipment, especially tracking information

Packing:

Use a padded envelope or box with packing material to protect your returning product. Damage incurred during shipping is not covered by the warranty.

Your RMA number and our shipping address must be on the outside of the package.

For this purpose, we suggest printing this document and securely attaching the portion above the line to the outside of your package

Shipping:

Return shipping to Corsair is covered by the customer. Choosing a shipment option with tracking is strongly recommended.

We estimate a processing time of up to 2 business days after your return arrives.

After successful processing, replacements are sent at Corsair's expense and tracking information will be provided via email. For issues or updates concerning your return or replacement, please reach out to Corsair Customer Service. You may respond to your ticket or get live service Monday to Friday, 7AM-5PM Pacific Time
